THE SMUGGLER.

An interesting and not at all surprising little news item crept into the dispatches the other day from Berlin to the effect that Eitel Friedrich, second son of former Emperor William, was found guilty and fined for illegally exporting gold from Germany to Holland. The former prince transferred a large amount of capital through a well-known fiscal company. It was reported from the German capital that "since he did not act through dishonorable motives" he was fined a (bagatelle) of 5000 marks.

It does not require the impugning of his "honorable motives" in the transaction to criticize the course of young Eitel. In the first place, he and his whole family have what they possess unfairly—to the wrong of the German people and the injustice of the world. Those of all ought to pay to the last mark they have amassed in part settlement of the debt which they saddled upon their own people in the enormous sums raised in preparation for a war of fearful rapine for power for this one house; they should be made to disgorge every mark they have to help their own people pay the great debt of reparation for which the Hohenzollerns were directly responsible. They have protested that they are loyal to their own people. Yet, who has heard of William or any of his sons contributing anything to the fund which the German people must raise to pay the debts created by the Kaiser's mad ambition? And what are the national feelings when it is learned that just before the German people must pay the first installment of this huge sum the former prince is caught in the act of slipping large amounts of gold out of the country illegally?

TOBACCO NEXT.

"They will take away tobacco next" is the wall of those who have become apprehensive concerning a possible twentieth amendment which would go further than the eighteenth. It is worth while to ask just how much progress has been made toward creating a smokeless, chewless, snuffless United States. This year the legislatures of 42 of the 48 states have been in session, and many of them have had anti-tobacco legislation under consideration.

Utah, where the influence of the Mormon church is against tobacco, has adopted an anti-cigarette law. In Idaho the legislature passed a bill prohibiting the use of tobacco, but then changed its mind and repealed it. The lawmakers of Tennessee, Arkansas and Iowa have recently repealed their anti-cigarette laws, and in Arizona a bill to prohibit smoking in public dining rooms and in other places was amended to include consumption of peanuts, the chewing of gum and the drinking of tea or coffee. Then the bill was defeated by the senate. A petition for a referendum in Oregon to prohibit the use of tobacco failed of sufficient signatures to put the question on the ballot.

RIGHTEOUSNESS THE SHIELD.

The feet of the nation are set firmly in the path that should lead to fulfillment of the devout wish of President Harding uttered at the impressive ceremony in the presence of 5000 war dead in Hoboken: "I can believe in the possibility of a nation being so righteous as never to make a war of conquest; and a nation so powerful in righteousness that none will dare provoke her wrath. I wish for us such an America."

We shall hear from some that the way to realization of this is through membership in the league of nations. But that is decidedly not the way. The president envisages righteousness as the sufficient shield of a nation. In the league it would lose this invaluable armament. For the league of nations, whatever may be said of the device as originally conceived, has become an instrumentality for the enforcement of the German peace treaty in which was included so much of injustice to innocent nations that the American people could not endorse it. The president sticks to his pre-election declaration against the league, but in favor of bringing the nations together for the preservation of peace on a basis of justice and law. There is popular trust that he has succeeded. We read his own confidence in his solemn declaration as to the conflict whose horrors linger. It must not be again!"

CARPENTER'S GOOD SENSE.

That Georges Carpentier possesses not only a proper idea of good sport but good sense as well is shown by his reply to the question whether he had wagered on his chances of winning the championship on July 2.

His reply in the negative, coupled with the opinion that betting was harmful to the sport, was as unusual as it was refreshing, and might well serve as a model for others to follow. No sport is ever healthy if the gambling feature is permitted to affect it in any way. He gave further proof of his poise and sanity by his statement that there would be no exhibitions or side-shows at his training quarters, and that all his time up to the day of the fight would be devoted solely to getting himself into the best possible condition for the contest.

The fact that he has engaged the negro heavyweight Jeanette, who is thoroughly acquainted with Dempsey and his methods of fighting, as one of his sparring partners is an indication that no chances are being overlooked and that when he steps inside the ring with Dempsey he will have no excuses to offer.

HERITAGE FROM McADOO.

According to latest estimates, the loss to the government in the operation of the railroads under federal control will total about $1,000,000. This estimate is of course incomplete, as there is much litigation still pending involving claims against the railroads while they were under government control.

Many of the claims involved in this litigation will be contested in appeals to the supreme court, so that it may be several years before the people of the country will know the full amount of the loss suffered, which must be borne by them as a consequence of the taking over of the railroads under the Wilson administration.

Now that a revolution has been reported again in Portugal, we may all resume our onward, normal way.

PORTUGAL GIVES LIBERTY TO 1500 GOVT. PRISONERS

(By Associated Press.)
LISBON, Portugal, May 30.—About 1500 royalist political prisoners have been set free under the vote of general amnesty for all such men passed by Parliament on April 9. The vote was taken at the time when all Portugal was paying tribute to the memory of the unknown soldiers whose bodies were brought here for interment in the cathedral at Batalha.

The grant of amnesty was the result of a long and bitter struggle for there has been a persistent fight against it by a minority of Portuguese. Lately, however, the majority of public opinion all over the country was in its favor. The fight in its support was led in parliament by the veteran republican leader, Dr. Jacinto Nunes, who is now, perhaps, the most popular person in Portugal.

COCK FIGHTING STILL AN IRISHMAN'S SPORT

(By Associated Press.)
DUBLIN, May 29.—In the midst of all the turmoil in Ireland, the popular but illegal sport of cock fighting is now being allowed to lapse. There has just been a great assembly of at least 1000 people in an island on Lough Neagh. Some fights took place, but before they concluded the police succeeded in reaching the island. That ended the matches. The spectators were permitted to go free.

LOS ANGELES TO AGAIN HAVE ITS WINTER RACES

(By Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 28.—Los Angeles is again to have a winter horse racing season, and arrangements are now being made, according to word given out here, for entries for the fall season of this year.

Previous attempts to establish horse racing here have met with police interference, charging gambling. It is planned hereafter to conduct the races on race receipts alone. Tod Sloan, internationally known jockey, who is scheduled to tour the east for entries, will sign up racers under authorization of his backers, among whom are Dick Ferris, J. M. Danziger, capitalist, and Stanley Anderson, wealthy Beverly Hills hotel owner.

14 NEW WIRELESS STATIONS TO GET FIRE MESSAGES

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 28.—Fourteen new receiving stations will be established this summer in California to handle wireless messages regarding forest fires from government airplanes patrolling the forests of the state. It was announced here recently.

The new stations will be at Station Weaverville, Mineral, Alder Springs, Quincy, Santa Barbara, Orleans, Nevada City, Placerville, Sonoma, North Fork, Hot Springs, Los Angeles and Yreka. In addition, there will be radio stations at the main bases of Visalia, Mather field, March field and Corning.

Planes in the air will be in communication with one or more of the stations almost continuously. It was said. When fires are discovered, the planes will radio the approximate location to the land stations which will notify forest service fire fighters who will go to the flames.

Young men, many of them students doing summer work, will serve as wireless operators at the land stations. All of them will be required to show registration as qualified amateurs.

Patrols of the California forests by air service planes will start by July 1, at the latest, it was said, and will continue during the summer until October 1 or 15. The planes will be stationed at the four main bases and will go on routes from 200 to 300 miles daily, covering the principal forests.

Planes will leave their bases at about 9 a. m. to cover half their routes before noon. They will stop at sub-bases for lunch and supplies and to telephone or telegraph to the bases confirmation of fire reports which they sent en route. In the afternoon they will cover the rest of their patrol routes, which will take them back to their bases.

In order to keep a check on the accuracy of location and promote the interests of the men in the work, the forest officers who go to the fires on the ground will report back the actual locations as they find them. This will enable the aviators to determine how close they are coming to locating the fires correctly.

They never made a cigarette like this in my day—

The Camel idea wasn't born then. It was the exclusive expert Camel blend that revolutionized cigarette smoking.

That Camel blend of choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos hits just the right spot. It gives Camels such mellow mildness and fragrance!

The first time I smoked Camels I knew they were made for me. I knew they were the smoothest, finest cigarette in the world, at any price.

Nobody can tell me anything different.
